

4-H Enrollment → County Fair Registration Chart

Families enroll in Douglas County 4-H online at mn.4honline.com. You follow the prompts and input contact information. You select your 4-H club from a list provided and then you are given the opportunity to select project areas. Project areas are broad categories that guide your learning in 4-H, it is really a selection of areas you might want to explore. The office uses this to send out information specific to a project area such as a workshop offering, specific resources for that project area and more. This is just an interest area at this point.

Animal science project areas have deadlines around identifying project animals. See below!

If you are exhibiting at county fair.....

County Fair Registration-Due July 15 (unless the 15th falls on a weekend, then the next Monday)

In April you will be mailed a premium book, which is a catalog of what exhibits you can bring to the county fair as a 4-H member. You will enter what exhibits you are bringing to the fair in douglasmn-county.fairentry.com. This is a different program than the one you used for enrollment and ID'ing your animals. However, these two programs are connected so you will use the same log in information. There are detailed instructions in your premium book on the back inside cover!

So when you enrolled in 4-H (through mn.4honline.com) you selected some broad project categories.

County fair registration (douglasmn-county.fairentry.com) narrows that project category down into an exhibit.

For example-you selected swine when you enrolled, now for county fair registration you need to select market barrow, breeding gilt or market gilt based on what you ID'd as animals. Clothing and Textiles is another example of a project selection that needs to be narrowed down to exhibit form-clothes you buy, or clothes you make, are you going to participate in Fashion Review and so on. Once your exhibit selections have been submitted the office will approve your county fair registration. If you need to make additions you can do so up until the July 15th deadline.
